While numerous voices are speaking through the press to the young and the middle-aged of either sex, those who have passed the meridian of life are, with rare exceptions, left unnoticed - one proof, at least, that among the virtues of this age is not to be numbered a due honoring of the hoary head. But if the young need counsel, the aged need consolation. With them the day of life is far spent, and the evening shadows have begun to fall, or are deepening into night. We have, therefore, deemed it a pious office as well as pleasing, to enter, as far as our experience and observation would enable us, within that world of thought and feeling, joys and sorrows, hopes and fears, where the aged dwell, and, in the light of divine revelation, to look out from their own point of view upon the Past and Future, that from both we might gather incentives to the exercise of gratitude and praise, confidence and hope.
