Brand New Book  Print on Demand .It was the afternoon before the closing day of the spring meeting of the old Jockey Club that so many people know. The next day was to be the greatest ever known on that course; the Spring Meeting was to go out in a blaze of glory. As to this everybody in sight this spring afternoon was agreed; and the motley crowd that a little before sunset stood clustered within the big white-painted gate of the grounds about the Jockey Club race-stables rarely agreed as to anything. From the existence of the Deity to the effect of a blister on a windgall, through the whole range of stable-thought and horse-talk, there was no subject, speaking generally, on which that mongrel population agreed, except, of course, on one thing-the universal desirability of whiskey. On this one subject they all agreed, always. Yet they were now all of one mind on the fact that the next day was to be the record on that course. In the first place, the prize in the great over-night event, the steeplechase set for the morrow, was the biggest ever offered by the club, and the cracks drawn together for the occasion were the best ever collected at a meeting on that course. Even such noted steeplechasers as Mr. Galloper s Swallow, Colonel Snowden s Hurricane, and Tim Rickett s Carrier Pigeon, which had international reputations, were on hand for it, and had been sent over the sticks every morning for a week in hopes of carrying off such a prize. There was, however, one other reason for the unwonted unanimity. Old Man Robin- Col-onel-Theodoric-Johnston s-Robin-suh -said it was to be the...
